Dear Ms. Dortch:

On April 22, 2005, Jonas Eneberg of Inmarsat, Richard Barnett of Telecom Strategies, and I participated in a meeting with Commission staff (with Mr. Eneberg participating by telephone). The following members of the International Bureau participated: Rick Engelman, Chip Fleming, Hsing Liu, Sean O'More, Frank Peace and Tom Tycz.

The conversation focused on the interference limits established in the Commission's Memorandum Opinion and Order and Second Order on Reconsideration ("MO&O") in Docket No. 01-185. More specifically, we discussed Inmarsat's views that (i) the 200 kHz reference bandwidth in 25.253(d) should be eliminated, (ii) a reference distance to establish coordination requirements should be added to 25.253(h), and (iii) rules should be adopted to constrain the potential for ATC interference causing the overload of the Inmarsat-4 satellite receiver.

Sincerely yours,

John P. Janka
